

Traders: Chicago PMI data
 Subscribe to get purchasing managers' data before public release.
www.kingbiz.com

4.69% Fixed Mortgage Refi
 No Points. Refi Your Mortgage Now! As Featured on CNNMoney & Forbes.
DeltaPrimeRefinance.com

The Ford Story
 See Ford's Progress on their Plan to Make the World's Best Vehicles.
FordVehicles.com/TheFordStory

FRIDAY, AUGUST 06, 2004

A Terrific, Fire-breathing Editorial

by Michael in New York on 8/06/2004 01:48:00 PM

I'll quote the entire editorial by Bob Herbert in today's New York Times if I don't control myself. It's passionate and on point and stirring. Here's a sample:

"It's as if the government were following a script from the theater of the absurd. Instead of rallying our allies to a coordinated and relentless campaign against Al Qaeda after Sept. 11, we insulted the allies, gave them the back of our hand and arrogantly sent the bulk of our forces into the sand trap of Iraq.

Now we're in a fix.

The war in Iraq has intensified the hatred of America around the world and powerfully energized Al Qaeda-type insurgencies. At the same time, it has weakened our defenses by diverting the very resources we need - personnel, matériel and boatloads of cash - to meet the real terror threats....

Does the administration have any real sense of what motivates the nation's enemies? Does it understand the ways in which American policies are empowering its enemies? Does it grasp the crucial importance of international alliances and coordinated intelligence activity in fighting terror? And is it even beginning to think seriously about lessening our debilitating dependence on Middle Eastern oil?

The United States is the greatest military and economic power in the history of the planet. But it lacks a unifying sense of national purpose at the moment, and seems uncertain, even timid, as the national security challenges continue to mount. That is what a failure of leadership can do to a great power."

JOHN'S PHOTOS

DON'T PAY FULL PRICE!
BIDS START AT $1

bidz.com
 Bid Now
 Everybody Wins at Bidz.com

HOT OFF THE WIRE

HuffPost Politics

Burris Won't Say If He'll Run In 2010 - MASCOUTAH, Ill. (AP) -- Roland Burris said Monday he's enjoying being Barack Obama's appointed successor in the U.S. Senate and will decide in due...
 20 minutes ago

Matthew Yglesias

Obama Open to Iranian Enrichment? - One key issue in the Iran policy debate concerns whether or not the United States could live with a deal wherein Iran verifiably forswears nuclear weapons...
 21 minutes ago

Think Progress

Frank 'I'm A Member Of Dick Cheney's Fan Club' Gaffney: Obama's 'Respect' For Muslims Is Code For Submission - The right wing has been apoplectic over President Obama's words and actions while in Europe. A large amount of their outrage has been over the fact that Ob...
 26 minutes ago

Daily Kos

Beck: Daily Kos, C&L blame me for cop killer - Because it's all about him, right? How self-absorbed can one man possibly be? (This video is from Beck's April 6, 2009 broadcast. The still image is of ...
 31 minutes ago

Ben Smith

Reminders: Ankara - White evangelicals trust Obama to handle the Muslim World "about right." Gates brings the change to defense contracts.
 34 minutes ago

DISQUS COMMENTS

Add New Comment

D Login f Connect

Logged in as Anonymous