

SUNDAY, AUGUST 21, 2005

Americablog: The Big Hits Of The Week

by Michael in New York on 8/21/2005 03:30:00 PM

A weekly rundown of the top postings on Americablog. These are the stories that drew the most traffic and generated the most comments.

Americablog isn't just for weekdays anymore. The weekend is getting more and more traffic as people realize Americablog never sleeps.

THE WEEKEND

John (temporarily) in Paris discovered the power of stern language with two fiery pieces, "Bush Is A God Damn Liar" and "Leave September 11 The Fuck Alone."

Cindy Sheehan stayed high in our interest with Joe in DC's two items "Front Page of Washington Post for Cindy Sheehan" and "Bush Uses Radio Address To Talk To Cindy Sheehan."

The Washington Post's bizarre decision to sponsor a Pentagon war rally climaxed with John (temporarily) in Paris urging readers "Tell The Washington Post To Stop Sponsoring pro-Bush rallies." The Post later dropped its support.

And Iraq's neighbor got a little nervous after Joe in DC highlighted the breaking story that "Bush Says He'd Use Force Against Iran."

MONDAY

The harrasment of a grieving mother continued as Joe in DC pointed out with postings "Shotgun Hospitality For Camp Casey" and "The neighbors are getting cranky."

"What Makes People Gay?" from Michael in New York inspired lengthy debate.

Karl Rove is never far from our thoughts, thanks to Joe in DC's update "More On Why The FBI Didn't Believe Rove From The Start."

And Michael in New York continued his questioning ways with "What To Do With Europe's Muslims?"

TUESDAY

Cindy Sheehan still had us rapt with attention. That brutal desecration of the war memorial was detailed in "The Neighbors Are Getting REALLY Ugly" from Joe in DC and John (temporarily) in Paris's look at "Pro Cindy Sheehan Protest At