

IN BRIEF

CAMPUS

■ LIKE A ROLLING STONE

Some students only dream about the big time, but UF junior Michael J. Giltz has made it as the first-place winner of Rolling Stone's "The Write Stuff" competition. Giltz won a $1000 scholarship, a trip to New York City and a Smith-Corona typewriter for the entertainment reporting story "Clear Glass," an interview with composer Philip Glass published last March in Applause, the entertainment supplement to The Alligator. Giltz is a former editor of Applause, an editorial columnist, film critic and an English major.