

This week's DVDs

By MICHAEL GILTZ

Constantine

★★

Warner Bros., $30.99

IF you're in the mood for an apocalyptic, end-of-the-world saga starring a stolid hero, "Constantine" is the movie for you. It's certainly better than the last two "Matrix" movies. And Keanu Reeves has fine support from the likes of Tilda Swinton. Extras include commentary by the director.

Michael Palin — Himalaya

★★★½

BBC America, $49.98

THIS is the latest in the travel series from Palin and it's among his wittiest, thanks to Palin's curiosity about the feared head-hunting tribe of Konyak and other sights. If you prefer, however, to travel the world at war, check out the "BBC History of World War II" (BBC America, $149.98).

Space Station (IMAX)

★★★

Warner Bros., $19.99

IS it even possible to hear Tom Cruise — who narrates this nifty look at the space station — without thinking of his media meltdown? No, but it doesn't detract from some amazing images of space. The only drawback? The 47-minute film is not in the stunning 3-D of the theatrical version.

Man of the House

★

Sony, $28.95

WATCH this comedy about a Texas Ranger guarding some cheerleaders, and you can almost see Tommy Lee Jones thinking to himself, "Has it come to this?" Jones is following this effort with his directorial debut "The Burials of Melquiades Estrada."
