The plane-crash victims in Lost are unusually well-dressed and foxy.

Lost: Complete First Season

★★★★½

(Buena Vista; $59.99)

IF you missed the terrific season one of "Lost," jump on this set. Dive in quick and be ready for season two, beginning on Sept. 21. Fans will want to check out the unaired flashbacks and other deleted scenes, as well as a making-of on the pilot, commentaries and audition tapes. Also just out: the groundbreaking "Fraggle Rock Complete First Season," (HBO; $44.99) the hilarious "Saturday Night Live: The Best of John Belushi" (Lions Gate; $14.98) and the hunger-inducing cooking show "Oliver's Twist Season 2" (Capital Entertainment; $29.98).

Garbo: The Signature Collection

★★★★½

(Warner Bros.; $99.92)

IN "Grand Hotel," she asked to be left alone, but Greta Garbo had no such luck. The alluring beauty is immortalized here with a boxed set (Warner Bros.; $99.92) boasting seven classics — including the delightful "Ninotchka" (1939) and the tragic "Camille" (1936) — plus a substantial new documentary, three silent gems and more. Another strong woman, director Lina Wertmuller, is celebrated with "The Wertmuller Collection" (Koch; $99.98) including five films, a disc of extras and an essay by John Simon.

thing else. Good films always draw an audience, such as this explosive indie drama about cops and racism in L.A. with reputation-reviving performances by Matt Dillon, Thandie Newton, and others. It garnered good reviews and great word of mouth, ultimately grossing more than $50 million. Extras include a making-of segment and commentary by director-co-screenwriter Paul Haggis and producer-star Don Cheadle.

To Kill a Mockingbird: Legacy Series

(Universal; $26.98)

AUTHOR Harper Lee — played wonderfully by Catherine Keener in the engrossing fall movie "Capote" — wrote only one book, but it was a doozy. Few novels have been as faithfully rendered on screen as hers, with hero Atticus Finch brilliantly embodied by Oscar winner Gregory Peck. Lavish extras on this 1962 classic include a documentary on Peck, his Oscar acceptance speech and more. Also out: con-man classic "The Sting: Legacy Series" (Universal; $26.98), Preston Sturges' uproarious 1944 comedy "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" (Paramount; $14.99) and the 1945 noir gem "The House on 92nd Street" (Fox; $14.98).

Lion's Gate

Newton and Dillon in "Crash"

Crash

(LION'S GATE; $15.99)
